Job market paper

Institutional Investment and International Risk-sharing
Finalist, Bank of Canada Graduate Student Paper Award 2022
Finalist, Best Paper Award in Investments at SWFA 2023
New international asset pricing model with globally-diversifying institutional investors and locally-diversifying retail investors, providing a unique decomposition of market-level local risk premium into institutional and retail components.

Working papers

Default Linkages in a Structural Credit Model
(with Jan Ericsson, Kristoffer Glover and Alexandre Jeanneret)
New structural credit risk model that explains co-movement in default risk, asset prices and equity volatility across independent borrowers.

Does ESG Predict Domestic and Foreign Institutional Investor Demand?
(with Ines Chaieb and Vihang Errunza)
Institutional investors only tilt towards high-ESG firms when they invest domestically, hence exhibiting a novel type of home bias.

Who Invests What? Public Firms Ownership Around the World
(with Ines Chaieb and Vihang Errunza)
Institutional investors and retail investors around the world exhibit different levels of diversification as well as different preferences for firm characteristics in their equity investment.

Work in progress

Default Risk of a Large Firm
(with Alexander Dickerson, Jan Ericsson and Alexandre Jeanneret)
Default risk of a large firm varies endogenously with its relative size, both in theory and empirically.
